

Uptown gets a makeover

Alan Jones of Downey Signs works on the neon sign at Uptown Theater on Main Street in Grand Prairie on Thursday. The city bought the theater in 2005 and is renovating it to use as a 400-seat live-performance theater, according to the Grand Prairie Arts Council Web site, www.artsgp.com.

STAR-TELEGRAM/DARRELL BYERS